

A PARIS BEAUTY DOCTOR.

The Methods Employed by a New Yorker to Make Women Artificially Attractive.

Diet, Cleanliness and Exercise the Principal Things Recommended by the Madam.

A Hundred Tricks to Make Lovely Woman Doubly Charming--To Cure Red Hands.

A shrewd little business woman who keeps a beauty parlor in Paris, where oils, creams, balms, lotions, soaps, perfumes, powders and toilet articles are offered for sale, says the New York Press, has this inscription over the door leading to the cabinet: "Trust me all in all or not at all." Keen-eyed and close-mouthed, wary as only a woman of the world can be, she brings to her profession the experience and intelligence of a medical career and the refinement of a lady. For reasons of her own she lives entirely within herself, is known as "Madam" by her customers, and with the assistance of a young woman conducts a business which, while exclusive, is both remunerative and respectable. No man is ever seen to enter the place, save as a messenger or collector, and, while any woman can buy goods, only a chosen few are admitted to the toilet cabinet for treatment, though it is from these few that her income is derived. She values her time at the rate of 25 francs an hour, but she is quick in treating a case, clear in prescribing, and in a fifteen minute talk one is often put in possession of most valuable hints.

The patron is seated in an adjustable chair and a hand-glass placed in her lap. By degrees the shade is rolled down from the window, and madam looks her customer over and knows the thing to be done in an instant. A greasy, gray face is thoroughly washed by steaming it, to open the pores and eruptions. Blisters and soreness of the lips are treated with sweet oil and cream. Inflamed lids are anointed, lashes are combed and clipped, eyebrows shaped to describe pretty curves, and where there is a tendency to meet, the bridge of the nose is cleared of straggling hairs with an electric needle. She trains the hair to grow about the temples in the manner for most becoming to the face, and "scolding locks" and "ear pieces" are effectually dealt with.

A poor complexion is made the subject of dietetic philosophy, and if necessary she will make out a bill of fare which, if adhered to for a year, will certainly prove beneficial not only to the face, but to the general health of the body. She has great faith in perspiration, and advises long walks, even in the hottest weather, with the face heavily veiled. Kitchen work is also prescribed. Not long ago a lady in society who pays a cook $2,000 a year was told to go into the kitchen and shell peas, mix a cake or knead bread for an hour every day to freshen up her complexion. Madame is an enthusiast on the subject of cleanliness, and argues that there is a degree of personal neatness equally as fascinating as beauty. Without actually cleaning the hair, she will direct the work and superintend an arrangement most agreeable to the lines of the face.

She has a hundred tricks to make lovely woman doubly attractive. For instance, any one can manufacture a pair of hands, but few are able to cure redness of the skin and swollen veins. She advises muscular action. One woman is ordered to fan herself, a lorgnette mounted on a rod of silver is suggested for another, so that when not in use the too highly colored members are piled on the tip of the rod, thus forcing the blood down from the hands; a third is told to knit incessantly, and the writer has in mind two beautiful women pursuing this plan, whose names are famous all over Europe. Of all the remarkable things done by this very remarkable woman, that of dressing a lady's arms exceeds everything else. Some otherwise beautiful arms are marred by a light growth of hair, to which sleeveless bathing suits and lace-sleeved walking dresses have so largely conduced. One season of bare arms on the beach is all the lesson a society woman needs; after that she takes her ocean dip in long sleeves, silk suits and broad-brimmed hats. But the mischief accomplished, it is necessary to pluck the arms before the fair creature can appear in evening dress.

In this operation the madame is an expert. She goes over the arm with a pair of tweezers the day of the opera, ball or carpet party, and drawing out the darker hair from shoulder to wrist, resorts to some delicate paste to conceal the down that remains. Of course this treatment has got to be repeated for each subsequent occasion, and those ladies who go in society a great deal find the low-neck and short-sleeved bodice a most expensive fashion. These visits are kept profoundly secret, and are made by appointment. One lady pays madame $20 a year to dress her right arm only, doing the left herself; a well known singer's pretty mouth is kept free from the hateful shade of a dark mustache for $15, paid in monthly checks, and a few women of position and wealth go to the parlor to have their hair examined and the threads of silver pulled out or touched with bleaching fluid.

Public School Savings Banks.

The system of public school savings banks as practiced at San Diego, Cal., is thus described by the Rev. B. F. McDaniel: Every pupil, on becoming a depositor, receives a card bearing his name and the name of the savings bank to which the school is assigned. Deposits are made with the teachers of the respective rooms on Monday mornings, who enter the same on their cards in duplicate, one set being kept on file in each room. The principle receives the deposits from the teachers and turns the amount over to the bank, receiving credit therefor on his or her pass book. The deposits of each school are placed in a general fund, and the account thereof kept on the books of the bank. When a pupil has deposited $1, and for every dollar deposited thereafter, the general fund is drawn upon to his credit. A pass-book is issued to him by the bank upon a check given by the principal or teacher when his deposit shall have reached the sum of $1, and for every dollar deposited thereafter a similar check upon the general fund of the school is presented to him with his pass-book for presentation at the bank. Deposits may be withdrawn on a written order from a parent or guardian, countersigned by the principal or teacher. Should it be necessary for a pupil to withdraw his deposit before receiving a pass-book, he surrenders his card, which, with the duplicate, will be cancelled at the bank. At the close of the school term, and upon leaving school the pass-book will be sent home, and may then be used for dealings with the bank independently of these regulations.

The use of calomel for derangements of the liver has ruined many a fine constitution. Those who, for similar troubles, have tried Ayer's Pills testify to their efficiency in thoroughly remedying the malady, without injury to the system.

A Woman's Discovery.
"Another wonderful discovery has been made, and that, too, by a lady in this county. Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly and could not sleep. She bought of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and was so much relieved on taking the first dose that she slept all night and with one bottle has been miraculously cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz. Thus writes W. C. Hamrick & Co. of Shelby, N. C. Get a free trial bottle at R. S. Hale & Co.'s drug store.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is purely a vegetable preparation, being free from injurious ingredients. It is peculiar in its curative power.

Spokane Falls New Line.

The Union Pacific Railway, having completed its line to Spokane Falls, Washington territory, is running its trains direct to that point, thus forming the most desirable route from the East on account of its Pullman Palace sleeping cars, Pullman Dining cars and free Pullman Colonist Sleepers. Spokane Falls is situated in the Palouse country and is the distributing center for section of the Northwest, the resources of which are unlimited. As an illustration: 50,000 bushels of wheat have been raised from 1,000 acres of land. Another feature of the country greatly conducive to the raising of crops, is the rainless harvests, no rain falling while the crops are being harvested.

Many desirable farms may yet be had in this remarkable productive region on reasonable terms, and a more favorable opportunity for procuring a farm cheap will not soon present itself.

For pamphlets descriptive of the country, or for rates, time tables or maps pertaining to the Union Pacific Railway apply to your nearest ticket agent, any agent of this company, or the undersigned.

The Verdict Unanimous.

W. D. Suit, druggist, Bipes, Ind., testifies: "I can recommend electric bitters as the very best remedy. Every bottle sold has given relief in every case. One man took six bottles, and was cured of rheumatism of ten years' standing." Abraham Hare, druggist, Bellville, Ohio, affirms: "The best selling medicine I have ever handled in my twenty years' experience, is electric bitters." Thousands of others have added their testimony, so that the verdict is unanimous that electric bitters do cure all diseases of the liver, kidneys or blood; only a half dollar a bottle at R. S. Hale & Co.'s drugstore.

Luxury on Wheels.

The people at home always appreciate the best in the land, and of course they do when they go to Chicago, New York and other large cities in the east and south, it is therefore no wonder that the tide of Montana travel to Chicago and the east is now largely over the popular Chicago, St. Paul and Kansas City railway. Make no mistake but ask for and insist that your tickets read over this justly popular railway. The dining cars and Mann boudoir sleeping cars and the new Pullman cars are marvels of luxury and comfort. No other line between St. Paul and Chicago or Kansas City runs them.

Reduced Rates.

The sixth annual meeting of the Montana W. C. T. U. will convene in Missoula Oct. 23 and 24, 1889. The Northern Pacific railroad, through General Agent Edgar, kindly offers the usual reduction, a fare and a fifth. Delegates must secure receipts from local agents that they have paid full fare on going. This will entitle delegates to return certificates, which secure one-fifth rate returning.
